BADGER G. O. P. SPLITS IN ROW OVER SPEAKER

Indications on Eve of Legislative Assembly Are Fight Will Be Intense

STALWARTS FIGHT SACHTJEN

Bob LaFollette Jr., Calls Conference to Align His Forces for Dark Horse

By Associated Press

Madison—On the eve of the opening of the Wisconsin legislative assembly, the indications were that the speakership fight would be carried to the floor of the assembly. The stalwart faction of the Republican party has bolted the caucus called by Robert M. LaFollette Jr., chairman of the state Republican central committee, and planned to hold their own conference Tuesday afternoon at a local hotel.

The stalwart slate for assembly offices probably will be headed by a "dark horse" for speaker. He was expected to be William H. Edwards from the second Waukesha district. An attempt will be made to obtain the withdrawals of Chas. E. Furry of the Sixteenth Milwaukee district and Wallace Ingalls of the First Racine District, according to conservative leaders.

The conference of stalwarts was called by Frank L. Prescott, assemblyman from the Eighteenth Milwaukee district, who announced that this faction would not attend the Republican caucus called by "Young Bob" LaFollette. Forty-one stalwarts have been invited to the conference. Prescott said. If the stalwarts poll 41 votes, 51 votes will remain in Tuesday night's caucus providing all other Republicans attend. In the present situation of the choice of Herman W. Sachtlein of Dane-co by the Progressives is regarded as almost a certainty. The stalwarts have to keep their strength intact and draw from the progressives who may not be in sympathy with the present state administration which favors the selection of Sachtlein.

CARRY FIGHT TO FLOOR

That the fight will be carried to the floor is virtually assured regardless of how the vote goes in the meeting Tuesday, for the failure of the conservatives to participate in the Republican gathering means that they will not be bound by any decision reached by it. Thus the two factions probably will present their respective candidates before the whole assembly for a decisive vote Wednesday.

Mr. Edwards, whose name has just been advanced for the stalwart endorsement, was chairman of the committee on taxation in the 1924 assembly. He will begin his fifth term in this session although all the terms were not consecutive.

Progressive leaders were busy Monday and Tuesday lining up their support on the speakership and were prepared to wage a bitter fight over the selection. Mr. Sachtlein said he was assured of 50 votes. He estimated the progressive strength in the assembly at 57 members. The stalwarts hope to obtain some of the progressive support now leaning toward Clinton G. Price of Juneau-co. Assemblywomen, of which there are three, are silent on the speakership issue. Their attitude apparently is one of "watchful waiting" as to the desire of the majority. The chances of Alfred M. Warden of Wausau, William Olson of Marathon and Charles W. Borek of Racine were regarded by members of the "advance guard" as slight.

GIRL BOOKKEEPER FOILS ATTEMPTS TO ROB BANK

By Associated Press

Trenton, Mich.—Attempts at robbery at the Trenton State bank were frustrated here Monday when Miss Margaret McKenzie, bookkeeper, with bullets flying around her, crawled in to the vault and rang the burglar alarm. 37 LIVES AND 15 BOATS LOST ON LAKES IN YEAR, INSURANCE COUNT SAYS

Cleveland, O. — Thirty-seven lives and fifteen boats, the greatest loss in a number of years, were lost on the Great Lakes during 1924, reports of underwriters revealed Tuesday.

The boats had a trip capacity of 36,800 tons. The greatest loss of life was on the steamer Clifton, which foundered in Lake Huron the week of Sept. 21, twenty six members of the crew and two passengers going down with the ship. Five lives were lost on the steamer Ontonagon, three on the Protection, and one on the State of Ohio, destroyed by fire here.

Only two, the State of Ohio and Kansas, were passenger boats. The barge Alex Maitland, abandoned after a fire at Port Huron, and the freighter Glenorchy, sunk in Lake Huron in a collision with the L. B. Miller, were the largest boats lost. Each had a capacity of 5,700 tons.

WOUNDED BURGLAR HELD AS SUSPECT OF FATAL ATTACK

Radio Helps Police Identify Man Jailed When He Applies for Medical Aid

By Associated Press

Omaha, Neb. — Omaha police are holding Norman Taylor, several times an Omaha burglar suspect, in connection with the slaying on Saturday night of a policeman at Marietta, O., pending a radio query from station WOAW.

Taylor was taken from the hospital Monday night, where he sought treatment from a gunshot wound in the left arm. Suspecting he might have been wounded in some affray with police, local officials broadcast his description. The description was heard by Chief of Police Putnam of Marietta, who immediately called Omaha police by long distance shortly after midnight. According to Night Captain Troby, Putnam said Taylor fitted the description of one of the robbers who was shot in the left arm as he ran from the scene of the fatal shooting. The bullet entered just below the left elbow in the rear and caused a compound fracture. Hospital attendants said, Taylor's wife and his brother Ed also were taken into custody.

Taylor insists he was accidentally shot by his wife while driving from St. Paul, which he said is his home, to Mankato, Minn. He said she was firing at fence posts when she accidentally shot him. He said, according to police, that he received first aid treatment at Mankato, and proceeded to Omaha by rail. Dr. John H. Thomsen, attending physician, said the nature of Taylor's wound shows that he had received aid treatment at some well equipped hospital.

According to Omaha police records, Taylor has served in seven penitentiaries since 1905 on burglary charges.

BURGLARS USE TRUCK TO LOOT STORE IN PLYMOUTH

Plymouth — Overcoats, suits and other merchandise valued at 75.00 were stolen from Stollner Brothers store here Monday night. A truck was used to carry the loot away.

MORE THAN 20 DIE IN EXPRESS CRASH

Berlin — More than a score of lives are known to have been lost when the Berlin to Cologne express crashed into a train standing in the station at Herne, Westphalia Tuesday.

Three cars were completely demolished, killing or injuring many persons. Dispatches shortly after 10 o'clock Tuesday morning said that 21 bodies had been removed from the debris.

Ambassador to Berlin Is Well Acquainted With All Problems of United States in Europe

Washington, D. C. — Alanson B. Houghton of New York, now ambassador to Germany, has been definitely selected by President Coolidge to succeed Ambassador Kellogg at London.

Mr. Houghton has attended many of the conferences in European capitals made necessary in the work of rehabilitation, and has first hand knowledge of almost every problem in which this country has an interest. He is 61 years old and was born at Cambridge, Mass.

Before entering congress, Mr. Houghton was engaged in the business of glass manufacture at Corning, N. Y. and was interested in other industries. He attended universities both in Paris and Berlin. The selection of a new ambassador for London so soon after the promotion of Mr. Kellogg was announced would be in line with the policy Mr. Coolidge has been following of clearing up such matters at the earliest possible moment. The resignation of Secretary Hughes, and the appointment of his successor was announced simultaneously. Attorney General Stone was chosen as a supreme court justice on the day Justice McKenna's resignation was announced; and Charles B. Warren was selected as attorney general within a few days after Mr. Stone's retirement was decided on.

SENATE MUST APPROVE Ambassador Houghton will require senate confirmation for the London post, although there is open to the president the avenue of a recess appointment provided the nomination is not made until after March 4, when congress will not be in session. On the other hand, Ambassador Kellogg is expected to come here several weeks before Secretary Hughes reaches office. In the state department and for that reason it is probable the nomination of Mr. Houghton will go forward before adjournment of congress.

What further changes the shift in diplomatic posts will lead to was not apparent Tuesday although there has been some talk that Ambassador Fletcher at Rome might be transferred to Berlin and Ambassador Phillips at Brussels sent to Rome.

No other cabinet changes appear to be in contemplation beyond the selection of a new secretary of agriculture to succeed Howard M. Gore on March 4. In this selection President Coolidge was said to be confronted with a particularly difficult task inasmuch as his desire was represented to be the appointment of a man who would be able to work with all the divergent elements which touch that field.

Agriculture, it was pointed out, embraces a field containing many interests, including business and financial which all too often in the past, if not loggerheads, have operated at cross purposes.

HOUSE CONSIDERS BANKING MEASURE

Passage of McFadden Bill Would Bring Up Rivers and Harbors Plan

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—Consideration of the McFadden banking bill under the five minute permitting amendments was the order of business in the house Tuesday, with leaders expecting its passage before adjournment for the day.

The controversial provisions, dealing with branch banking privileges for national banks, which came under attack during the general debate concluded last week, remained to be taken up, however, in the reading of the bill and it was uncertain how much time these would consume. Notices had been given by several members that they would offer amendments to these provisions which would permit national banks to maintain two branches in cities where the parent bank is located, wherever state laws accorded branch banking privileges to state institutions.

Passage of the McFadden measure Tuesday would bring up in the house the $39,000,000 rivers and harbors authorization bill under an agreement limiting general debate to two hours.

AMERICA TAKES ACTIVE HAND IN WORLD AFFAIRS

United States Representatives Sign Interallied Document at Paris

FIRST TIME SINCE TREATY

French Circles Regard Step as Most Important Factor in Future

By Associated Press

Paris—Representatives of the United States, for the first time since America's failure to ratify the Versailles treaty, are about to sign an interallied agreement, the object of which is to fix and divide German reparations payments.

Instead of observers, the Americans now become active participants in the settlement of the situation arising out of the peace of Versailles; that is considered here to be the most important result attained at the interallied financial conference which is due to close Tuesday.

The cooperation of the United States is regarded particularly in French circles as constituting a new and important fact which may have weighty consequences in the future, both morally and materially, the more so as one of the negotiators, Ambassador Kellogg, will be called on March 4 to assume direction of America's foreign policy.

Under the present arrangements, the experts were to submit their complete report to the finance ministers at 3 P. M. and the ministers, after examination, were to submit it in turn, with or without modifications, to the plenary conference at 5 P. M. The French minister of finance, M. Clemenceau, is so optimistic that everything will work according to schedule that he has already ordered a grand banquet for Tuesday night in honor of the delegates and experts. Winston Churchill, the British ambassador of the exchequer, is of similar mind, and his told his valet to pack his trunks.

RACINE CHIEF WARNS POLICE TO "BUCK UP"

By Associated Press

Racine—The dismissal of two of Racine's detectives on charges of accepting a bribe of $50 from John Gettner, proprietor of a soft drink parlor, was followed late Monday by a meeting of the members of the police department at which Chief Baker warned other members that dismissal would follow a continuation of conduct unbecoming officers. It had been alleged by Gettner, he said, that there was considerable drinking and loafing while on duty among members of the department and the chief warned the men that future violation would result in summary dismissal. He also announced that he would hold every man responsible for the condition on his beat and that a moral squad of three men still to be appointed would check up on them.

One member of the department was given warning to straighten up or face the trial board.

Hughes Quit Post To Recoup His Fortune

Close Friends of Secretary of State Know of His Plans to Resign, David Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1925 by the Post Pub. Co.

Washington, D. C. — Skepticism about the real reasons for resignations and appointments is so ingrained here that it was only natural for official Washington to endeavor to find some other basis for the departure of the secretary of state Charles Evans Hughes, than the one given in the letters he exchanged with President Coolidge.

But the truth is not difficult to ascertain. Surprising as the announcement may have been to the general public, it was not to the many close friends of Mr. Hughes to whom he had confided his earnest wish to leave office on March 4. He talked it over with President Coolidge just after election and the word "was passed" round that Mr. Hughes had agreed to stay at least another year.

Why did he resign now? Because the secretary found that foreign relations were in such a status as would permit him to leave on March 4, whereas if he stayed longer he might become so wrapped up in big questions of foreign policy as to prevent his resignation altogether even at the end of a year.

NEARLY HAD PRESIDENCY Mr. Hughes had every honor that can come in public service except the presidency of the United States and he came near that in 1916. He reached the highest honor in his profession as associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. He was governor of New York state and now has served four years as premier of the cabinet.

Being 62 years-old, Mr. Hughes has only a few years left in which he can actively engage in law practice. He never was a rich man. When he left the bench in 1916, he was not wealthy. In the next four years he amassed a comfortable sum in private practice but in March 1921 he was called to the cabinet and the chances are he has dug deeply into his principal in the last four years. From now on he can recoup the losses of the last four years which would have been extraordinarily profitable to him. Having given 20 years to public service, he naturally thinks now of providing a continued income for his family.

While Mr. Hughes' reasons for resigning may be understood, there is no doubt that the appointment of his successor, Frank B. Kellogg, the ambassador to Great Britain, is causing even more gossip and inquiry. How did it come about? Probably this way: Mr. Hughes had been urging the president to accept his resignation. Mr. Coolidge was reluctant—almost very highly—and all talk about minor or major disagreements may be set down as utterly unfounded. "What shall we do for a successor?" the president might have asked. "Well, there's Frank Kellogg at London," was Mr. Hughes' natural reply. "He is already familiar with the big questions we now are dealing with. He has had experience in dealing first-hand with European statesmen and he can take things over without difficulty."

To all of this Mr. Coolidge readily could have agreed and the appointment was announced. It is interesting also to point out in this connection that Mr. Hughes originally recommended Mr. Kellogg for the post at London. He has the highest regard for Mr. Kellogg's ability. And Mr. Coolidge has the same regard for Mr. Hughes' advice.

SENATE ADOPTS JONES BILL IN SHOALS DISPUTE

New Measure Provides for Commission to Settle Question of Power Plant

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—The Jones substitute for the Underwood bill to refer the whole Muscle Shoals question to a commission was adopted Tuesday by the senate.

Adoption of the substitute means the defeat of the Underwood bill. The vote was 45 to 33. After the vote on the Jones substitute Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, introduced a new substitute.

Sixteen Democrats supported the Jones substitute whereas a like number of Republicans voted for the Underwood substitute proposition. The commission under the Jones plan would be composed of the secretaries of war and agriculture and a third person to be named by the president who would be instructed to report not later than the first Monday in December, 1925. No lease could be considered by the commission for more than 50 years and the production of nitrate for ammunition and fertilizer would be declared the primary purpose of Muscle Shoals development.

The secretary of war would be authorized to dispose temporarily of the power development while the commission was making its study and also to construct Dam No. 3 in the Tennessee river.

ADOPTED CHILD IS BARRED AS HEIRESS

By Associated Press

Madison — An adopted child cannot inherit from its parent's relatives, the supreme court held Tuesday in affirming the judgment of the county court in the case of the estate of James W. Bradley, deceased.

James W. Bradley of Milwaukee died, leaving an estate of about $4,000,000. He left no heirs except a niece, Edna B. Tweddy, the child of a deceased brother. An adopted child of another deceased brother, William T. Bradley, claimed half the estate. The court, speaking through Justice Owen said:

"The status resulting from adoption proceedings is not a natural one. It is a civil or contractual status. One may have the right to assume the status of father to a stranger of the blood, but he has no moral right to impose upon his brother the status of an uncle to his adopted son. By adoption proceedings the adopters can make for themselves an heir, but they cannot thus make one for their kinship."

DEMANDS CASH FOR PAROLE

Ouster Proceedings Planned Immediately, States Attorney Says

By Associated Press

Topeka, Kas.—A new sensation involving the alleged solicitation of money by a state official for a pardon broke in Kansas Tuesday morning—this time engulfing Carl J. Peterson, state bank commissioner and friend and political advisor of former Governor Jonathan M. Davis, who, with his son, is charged with accepting a bribe for the extension of executive clemency.

Ouster proceedings will be instituted immediately against Peterson, it was announced by Attorney General C. B. Griffith. The attorney general Monday demanded that Peterson resign, but Peterson refused.

The bank commissioner is charged in an affidavit sworn to by A. J. Oswald, young attorney of Hutchinson, Kas., with having asked $4,000 for a parole for Walter Grundy, convicted Hutchinson banker, and later agreeing to accept $2,500 for a pardon.

The affidavit brings forward Governor Davis, who to the best of his knowledge took Oswald to Peterson when Oswald was seeking clemency for Grundy.

At this meeting with Davis the affidavit states, the governor first told Oswald there was "absolutely no chance in the world" for favorable action in the Grundy case. The affidavit continues:

"I then said, 'well, then I suppose the only way open to Grundy is the Peterson route.'"

"At this point the governor whose manner had been very brusque and crusty, immediately changed. He arose, took me by the arm and led me to Peterson's office giving a knock. Peterson drew the curtain aside, saw it was the governor and admitted us."

"This is Oswald," the Governor said to Peterson, and thereupon left."

DEMANDED $4,000

Oswald relates in the affidavit he saw Peterson later that day and that the bank commissioner told him Grundy could get a parole for $4,000. The attorney says he was "so astonished" he confided in John E. Rhodes, formerly an assistant attorney of Kansas, and asked for advice. It was decided to lay the matter before the attorney general, Oswald says.

The affidavit relates further negotiations alleged to have been conducted with Peterson when it was agreed $2,500 would be accepted for a pardon for Grundy.

Through telephone connection witnesses listened in on the conversations, Oswald states.

Oswald relates he visited Governor Davis at the executive mansion and mentioned that Peterson had agreed to a payment of $2,500 to Grundy, according to the affidavit, the Governor replied:

"I don't care anything about that. Peterson is an attorney and that is all up to him."

Peterson announced he would fight the ouster proceedings denying the charges made by Oswald. He asserted Oswald had proposed to advance money to free Grundy, but that he had refused to participate in such a deal.

Davis in a statement said he had told Oswald of his determination not to extend clemency to Grundy. "The statement he makes that I led him to Peterson is correct, possibly, so far as introducing him to Peterson is concerned but not make a deal for a pardon," said the former governor.

WATER DEPARTMENT GETS NEW OFFICES IN CITY BUILDING

Council Committee Agrees to Rearrangement of City Offices

At a conference between the building and grounds committee of the common council and city officers in the city hall Monday evening a plan was agreed upon whereby changes in office quarters will affect the city assessor, the water department and the engineering department.

The proposal of moving the water department to the offices of the assessor and the federal internal revenue service and giving up the quarters to the engineering department and giving the assessor the private office of the city engineer was adopted by the committee. Since the engineer's office is too small for the purposes of the assessor's office, the partition will be moved back to enlarge the office.

It also was agreed that the city school superintendent's office should be centrally located in the city. For that reason the plan of moving it to the Wilson junior high school was abandoned and the city superintendent will retain the office in the city hall.

Graham Taylor, head of the Chicago Commons social organization, started the current which ran through the entire sessions in a speech Thursday night. The meetings were held in the Morrison hotel.

Because this was his first offense, the judge imposed the minimum, a $100 fine.

Seymour Man Kills Bobcat On Wild Land

The carcass of a bobcat, by some termed a lynx, was brought to the office of the county clerk Saturday noon by A. L. Thompson of Seymour for bounty. The latter had shot the animal on the waste lands of the town of Oneda on Tuesday.

It was a ferocious looking creature even while dead. In shape, general appearance and its stripes on the lower part of its body, it resembled a tiger, except that it was smaller than the beast of the jungles. When stretched out it was a yard long. The color was a mixture of grey and brown. It had a short, bobbed tail, small cat like ears and massive legs.

RALLY OF GIDEONS PRODUCES MONEY FOR HOTEL BIBLES

Christian Travelers Meet Here to Raise Funds for 150 Books

Gifts of churches and individuals during the rally of Wisconsin Gideons here over the weekend more than paid for the Bibles which have been ordered for the rooms in the additions to Conway and Appleton hotels. A supper with Appleton Ministerial association was held Saturday night and Gideons spoke in ten churches Sunday in the interest of their work. Cash contributions totaled $147.06 and pledges amounted to approximately $25 according to L. A. Miller of Marshfield, state secretary. He declared the rally here was one of the best ever conducted, both financially and from the standpoint of cooperation of the ministers and the Appleton public.

Twenty were present at the supper at the Y M C A Saturday evening, ten of whom were officers of the Gideons, which is an organization of Christian commercial travelers. The Rev. J. L. Menzner spoke for the Appleton ministers and E. C. Umbreit of Oshkosh for the Gideons. C. W. Brown of Milwaukee, state president acted as chairman.

One hundred fifty Bibles were needed for the new hotel rooms in this city. Gideon speakers told their audiences Sunday. The work the organization is doing and the influence for good which the Bibles are exerting were explained. The First Baptist German Methodist Reformed, and Trinity and First English Lutheran churches were visited in the morning and the First Methodist First Congregational Memorial Presbyterian St. John Evangelical and Emmanuel Evangelical in the evening.

Bibles have been ordered and will arrive here this week. They will be placed in the new rooms and in others where the books have been worn or misplaced. The hotels originally were supplied with Bibles during the Gideon state convention here several years ago.

MARTIN AT IMPORTANT MEETING IN MADISON

F. F. Martin, who is the coordinator between Appleton Vocational school and local industries, is attending a conference of personnel and employment people of the state which is being held at the state university in Madison. The purpose of the conference is to discuss problems of industrial relationship and is under the leadership of Prof. Leachler, Ely, Collins and Kleckhafer of the university. This is one of the most important conferences on this subject ever held in Wisconsin, according to vocational school and industrial leaders.

and she vows to herself that she will never really love him.

STARLING STORY TOLD BY NEW SILLS FILM

A picture everyone should see was the verdict of the large audience which was present yesterday at the New Bijou Theatre to witness the premiere of Why Women Re-marry.

Once again it is proved that a real live story plus an excellent cast, with such stars as Milton Sills and Ethel Grey Terry will go on pleasing movie fans as long as there are theatres in which to show it.

Why Women Re-marry is a distinct novelty in photo plays, both in story and treatment. It tells the life stories of four unhappy wives, all of whom married for different reasons, none of which are satisfied with their first husbands. Jazz, a love and sympathy, a proper home for her children, the love of children these are some of the reasons why women marry at all, according to this excellent picture. John Gorman, who directed it again demonstrated his right to be called "one of the best."

His sets are beautiful, artistic and practical, and in no place in the picture does he introduce a false note. The element of mystery and suspense, plus a wonderful love interest, is well carried thru the entire picture. As "big hearted Dan Hannon the most lovable cop on the beat," Milton Sills scores a triumph and does the best work of his career. His portrayal of the cop who cleverly runs down the murderer of the husband of the woman he loves and also helps every one of the other unhappy wives to solve their problems and find happiness, is so sympathetic and so skillfully done that one feels as if one were watching a real person act before his eyes.

Why Women Re-marry will continue at the New Bijou today and to morrow.

"Wanderer of the Wasteland," adapted from Zane Grey's well known story, marks a radical advance in photoplay production in view of the fact that the picture was photographed entirely in color something heretofore never attempted in a full-length feature. Aside from its novelty the picture proves conclusively that colored photography, the philosopher's stone of the motion picture world has at last been perfected for practical purposes.

Zane Grey has reason to feel mighty grateful to Irvin Willat, who directed the picture. Mr. Willat left nothing undone that would insure a deluxe production. The actual scenes mentioned in Mr. Grey's book of Arizona and Death Valley, California—were used as backgrounds for the swiftly moving story so that we see Nature's handiwork in all its marvelous gorgeous colorings.

A well high perfect cast was picked to interpret the various roles. Jack Holt makes an ideal hero, Billie Dove is a vision of loveliness, Noah Grey is a "desert rat" and Kathryn Williams has a fine role.

The picture will remain at the Appleton theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

NORMA TALMADGE'S LATEST PHOTODRAMA SCORES HUGE SUCCESS

There is a shipwreck scene in Norma Talmadge's new picture "The Only Woman," which, to our way of thinking is one of the most vivid and real bits of action ever brought to the screen.

As a rule such scenes are done, for the most part in miniature, necessitating long distance photography which dilutes the realism of the effect. Here however is staged a real shipwreck on a real ocean. A beautiful yacht is borne down upon by a twice massed schooner on the storm tossed deep and Norma and Eugene O'Brien, her leading man, as well as a crew of minor players, are seen battling for their very existence.

Sentinel in the Elite Theatre last evening, one could almost hear the crash as the big vessel smashed into the yacht, catching it amidships and sending it into splinters. And the cries of the perishing sailors seemed to rise above the roar of the sea as they fought each other for seats in the lifeboats.

There was no miniature work in the scene. It was all real, so vividly real that the audience gasped as the thrilling climax was reached. Norma, always an actress par excellence is seen at her best as a young woman who sacrifices herself on the marriage altar to save her father from disgrace. She hates her husband, even as she mingles with the church aisle to become his bride,

FATHER, SON SAY EACH STOLE RING

Guests Take Two Valuable Rings from Home of Friend at Kaukauna

A case of "Button, button, who's got the button?" with the exception that diamond rings were substituted for buttons has arisen following the arrest of Lorne Coolidge and his stepson, Frank Lillie, for theft of two diamond rings from a relative, Mrs. Mamie Burton, Kaukauna, on Jan. 5.

The father and son were guests at the Burton home, and when Mrs. Burton, stepped out of the house for a few minutes, the diamonds disappeared. The boy also was gone. Coolidge's home was at Oconto, but young Lillie was on his way to Milwaukee to join the navy. The boy was arrested at Milwaukee by R. F. McCarthy, chief of police at Kaukauna.

One of the rings has been returned but the more expensive one is still missing. The boy accuses his father of the theft and the stepfather accuses the stepson. It is believed that the ring was pawned, and an attempt will be made to recover it through Milwaukee pawn shops. Coolidge is out on bail, but Lillie is held in jail pending the search for the ring.

ONLY 9 HOMES NOW UNDER SMALL POX QUARANTINE

Compulsory vaccination of all school pupils has had a visible effect upon the small pox situation in the city, according to an announcement by the health department. The epidemic seems now to be checked entirely, for the number of homes quarantined has been reduced to nine which is the lowest it has been for several weeks. It is believed that the epidemic will continue to subside.

PRICE OF PORK GOES UP AS FEED GETS SCARCE

Appleton families soon may go back to wartime measures and resort to "porkeless days" if the advance in the price of this popular meat continues. There has been an advance of from 3 to 5 cents a pound in the last two weeks according to local butchers. Scarcity of feed and undernourished hogs are given as the chief causes. The price of lard has increased from 3 to 4 cents a pound also.

Milwaukee pawn shops. Coolidge is out on bail, but Lillie is held in jail pending the search for the ring.

THE HUGHES RESIGNATION
Mr. Hughes says he resigned as secretary of state because of his desire to return to private life, and the conviction that he has by twenty years of public service discharged his obligations of this character. Politics at Washington has it that Mr. Hughes and President Coolidge have not agreed on some measures and policies. Politics also has it that the president wishes a secretary of state he can control, and this is why he has selected Mr. Kellogg. Politics has it that the president hurt Mr. Hughes' feelings by not inviting him to remain in the cabinet after he had invited other members. Politics is buzzing and all agog at the sudden and unexpected change in the department of state.

If there is anything more than a simple desire of Mr. Hughes to retire to private life on the theory of a well-earned respite, it will come out in time. It may be not until some one dies and writes his memoirs, or until some inspired biographer or letter-writer takes us behind the scenes. It is a matter of some importance to the American people. Naturally they are interested and it makes a difference whether Mr. Coolidge was in sympathy with Mr. Hughes' international views and wishes. It makes a difference whether his policies are to be altered or continued, and whether the president is to perform the offices of state through a mere mouthpiece or through a man who may be considered an authority on international affairs and capable of giving sound advice. It makes a difference whether we are to have a Lansing or a Root. In the meantime there will be uncertainty as to just what our policies may be. Probably the only one who really knows is Calvin Coolidge, and he is a discreet person.

BATTLE ONLY BEGUN

Chicago has held a mass meeting in protest against the decision of the United States supreme court which threatens to stop its theft of water from the Great Lakes. One would think, from reading an account of this meeting, that Chicago stood on the edge of a volcano. An imposing array of statistics and unrestrained oratory portrayed a visitation of pestilence upon the city, most gruesome in its havoc. Typhoid fever and other terrible diseases are about to ravage its people. Death on a hideous scale lurks in the wake of the waters the supreme court is about to reverse.

It is typically Chicagoan. Having failed to justify its water theft before the courts of the land, it now purposes to frighten the country into submission through an appeal to sympathy. Chicago knows the war department under the latitude that was obviously given it by the supreme court for the express purpose, is not going to summarily stop the use of water necessary to carry away Chicago's sewage. It knows that a permit will be granted it to continue the present diversion of water until it is able to take care of its sewage in other ways.

But that is not what Chicago wants. It wants to appropriate the water it takes from Lake Michigan not temporarily but permanently. It wants to do this because of its value for power, for lessening the cost of sewage reduction and, theoretically, for its lakes-to-the-gulf waterway. It is not an emergency that is agitating Chicago, but it is a purpose never to give up the 10,000 cubic feet per second it is draining from Lake Michigan, and the hope of increasing that volume in the future.

Chicago will go to congress and make a great noise about the peril to its health. It will melt the hearts of the law-makers if it can. If it can't, it will try the subterfuges and stratagem of politics, anything to gain its point. The lake states should not be deceived by what is going on down there. Chicago's health is not imperiled and the federal authorities are not going to permit it to be scourged by disease. Lake states should maintain their organization and go on fighting Chicago with the same energy as before. The battle has only begun.

THE AMERICAN RACE

Speaking to the foreign section of the American association for the Advancement of Science, Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, anthropologist of the National Museum, stated that a distinct American race is being developed. This race is composed of persons with a native ancestry extending back three generations, and is characterized by the tallest stature of any race.

The first generation becomes American in opinion and sentiment. The second adapts itself quickly to this general environment. The third is fully affected by American environment, including the climatic. The third looks American. It resembles no other race, but is distinctive.

Apparently, the second generation, which is the first born in the United States, has absorbed the social and political environment. The third, which is the second native-born, generally has absorbed the natural environment thoroughly.

Dr. Hrdlicka considers the subject from the strictest scientific point of view. As he says, the third native-born generation has acquired all the characteristics of this distinctive race, the American, we are willing to assume he is right and to congratulate him on this discovery.

THE ALLIED FINANCIAL SETTLEMENT

An agreement has been reached at the allied financial conference in Paris which admits the right of the United States to participate in the reparations annuities for the discharge of its claims against Germany. The basis of settlement proposed should meet with the approval of the American people.

It was not so much a question of the precise amount or percentage that the United States was to receive annually, nor exactly when payments were to begin, as it was a recognition of the principle that the United States was not barred from sharing in reparations by its conclusion of a separate treaty with Germany. What was at stake was the right of this country to share proportionately with the allies in the payments Germany is compelled to make as the price of losing the war. This we have accomplished through a vigorous presentation of our case, not only by the state department, but through our representatives at the Paris conference. These, incidentally, include the new secretary of state, whose prestige was naturally increased abroad by the appointment, as well as at home by his achievement.

In brief, we are going to get along with the allies in the settlement of all the post-war problems, reparations, debts and everything else. Skill in diplomacy and a strong front are of great value in international controversies, but right is greater where it is backed up by the power to effect justice.

SUGAR DOLL.
It was only a little sugar doll like a doll they had molded it neat. And it gave a little water a heap of joy, for she knew that this doll was sweet.
It only cost daddy a penny or two, but the cost plays a trivial part. The thing that brings me much joy is that wee little Sue let the dolly crawl into her heart.
Whenever she'd eat, sugar dolly was there, perched serenely on Sister Sue's tray. Always in this queer little pair spent their time through the hours of the day.
Why Sister would bless it and lovingly dress it. She'd say, "I'm mamma to you, sugar dolly, never would I let it go, but close to her hold it like regular mamma folks do.
Then this wee little maid read, grew quite afraid that she'd lose sugar dolly while sleeping. So she kissed it goodnight, then this queer tiny mite ate the sugar doll up—for safekeeping.

UNEDUCATED FEET.
Among about 9,000 children from 6 to 16 years of age in schools in South Carolina, Maryland, Delaware and New York whose eyesight was tested with the snellen test types, 6,000 were found to be normal or better in both eyes, about 2,000 had moderate defects of vision, and 900 had poor vision in one or both eyes. Only about one in four of the children with poor vision in both eyes were wearing glasses. But whether the vision was good or bad, it was generally as good in the right eye as it was in the left. Most of us have two eyes, and we use them both. Most of us hear as well with the left ear as we do with the right. About 96 per cent of us have two good hands, but educate only the right, 4 per cent have two good hands and educate only the left. Nearly all of us have two potentially useful feet, but we're so damned ignorant from the eye-saws down that we laugh outright at the very notion of educating the feet. The neglect of this feature of our physical education costs us a pretty penny, too. Fortunately, the defects of the feet which are preventable by education give more or less discomfort, pain or disability which even the dumbest of us must heed. The defects of vision among the children referred to above give little discomfort or pain and hence are commonly unsuspected—the children are considered backward or dull or wayward. Unnecessary to suggest that irritability or peevishness may arise from defective feet—the quick shoe merchants and propagandists exploit that idea to the disadvantage of the credulous.
When a man with a broken leg wishes to get about he uses crutches. But he generally does so under the advice and care of a physician. Arch proper, or footware purporting to support the arch in any way are crutches, but the average uninformed person imagines it is all right to adopt such crutches on the advice of any shoe salesman with the glib manner.
One of the outstanding features of uneducated feet is bunion. A bunion stands out like a sore thumb. In the last ten years, thanks to the smattering of education our feet are beginning to receive, this condition has decreased markedly in prevalence. The recent tendency in footwear vogue has been along the natural anatomical line which the hygienists have been urging upon us these many years. Under this healthful reform not only bunion, but many other painful or disabling foot ailments are destined to approach the vanishing point. A great many victims of bunion do not even know what bunions are, they think it is a kind of large or hospital size corn, and sometimes they make this mistake of treating it accordingly.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
More Wanted.
I have a rupture and have been wearing a truss to support it fairly comfortably. I am now being deluged with letters and circulars from a concern claiming to permanently cure any rupture with their adhesive pad and saline, through the strengthening of the muscles by absorption of the saline through the skin.
Answer—Nothing will cure rupture (hernia), breach in a person over two years old except operation. Let me remind you that no saline, ointment or other substance is absorbed through the skin in any circumstances. And even if anything could be absorbed through the skin, isn't it foolish to imagine that a medicament will correct a mechanical defect.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.
Tuesday, Jan. 16, 1900.
Booker T. Washington, negro president of Tuskegee institute, delivered an address before a large crowd at the Methodist church last evening. He made an eloquent plea for the redemption of the colored race.
A goods roads convention at the courthouse yesterday afternoon was attended by a large crowd. Louis Jacquot was chosen chairman and C. W. Baake, secretary. Remarks were made by W. H. Post of Seymour, Warren Root of Medina, Mr. Robinson of Kaukauna, Mr. Roloff of Maple Creek and Peter Tubbs of Seymour. The majority voted against organizing whereupon the minority organized and elected Peter Hodgins, president, F. M. Wexon, secretary, and Norman Scott, treasurer.
The Gaudier sextet, which had furnished music at many of the functions in this city in the last three years, was reorganized and was to make its first appearance that evening at the Clio club banquet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Bradford. Members of the sextet were Mr. Bronover, first mandolin; Mr. Zickler, flute; Mr. Heckel, second mandolin; Mr. Rodermund, second mandolin; Mr. Menning and Mr. Lohman, guitars.
About 30 friends gave Mr. and Mrs. James O'Leary a surprise party last night in honor of their fourth wedding anniversary.
Prize winners at a meeting of the B. S. Schafkopf club yesterday at the home of Mrs. B. J. Posing were Mrs. Joseph Schreier, Mrs. W. J. Baker.

TEN YEARS AGO.
Tuesday, Jan. 12, 1915.
The fighting near Soissons in progress at this time was described as the most bloody of the Euro pean struggle. The Germans were vainly struggling to retake three times of trenches captured by the allies.
David Steinhauer for several years a member of Mike's Grocery company, left for New York to spend three weeks with his mother, after which he intended to return to Chicago to engage in the wholesale fruit business.
Two high school debating teams appeared before the Polk club of Lawrence college last evening and debated the question of the advisability of increasing the regular army of the United States to 500,000 men. The affirmative was supported by Gen. Teach, Lawrence Leaned and George Dame, and the negative of Joseph Harriman, Karl Neld hold and William Heller.
Practically every seat in Appleton theatre was filled last night for the production, "The Village Blacksmith."
The Liverpool left today for Milwaukee to attend a meeting of the executive board of the state photographers association. He had been secretary for the last seven years.
A survey made by the government on 51 dairy farms in Wisconsin showed that the average cost of feed and lodging of the farmer now averaged $150 a year. This sum was somewhat higher than that of other states.
Mildred Schumann Hink the singer, was stricken suddenly in her home at Chicago and her condition was reported as critical.
Now we know why bathing girls left the machine covers. They have better jobs on the 1925 calendars.

THE NATAL DAY
What is it, in our early youth, We look for with great joy in truth, That drags along too slow, forsooth? Our birthday!

What is it, in our middle years, We tolerate, but give no cheers, That mixes up our hopes with fears? Our birthday!!

What is it, when we're old and gray, Flies past, it seems, each other day, DON'T WANT TO MISS ONE, ANY WAY? Our birthday!!

In their "What's Wrong With This Picture" column, the newspaper last week announced that it was not considered correct for young men to give presents to women friends, except perhaps a small box of candy; that valuable or personal gifts are not permissible. Next day more than a score of women cancelled their subscriptions.

Appleton may have its meanest man in the fellow who robbed the kids' bank, and Kaukauna may have its meanest man in the person who spread rocc salt on the Kaukauna ice rink, but what about the meanest woman who, just before leaving on a two weeks' trip, gave her husband a time c'ock which he was to punch every night?

R. F. M. wants to know who the fellow is that signed himself "A Taxpayer" in an article in the People's Forum recently. He probably is one of the vast horde of persons who sticks to his job and endures patiently all the annoyances caused by those who for the last ten or fifteen years have been engaged in the heaven born mission of reducing taxes.

THE FAMILY CELEBRATES
"Mrs. J. W. Lyman will entertain at a family dinner tomorrow night at the Mission Hills Country club. Mr. Lyman left last night for northern Wisconsin."—Kansas City Star

A man can never be too cautious about abandoning the habits of his youth. There was that Milwaukee man who smoked until he was 90 and then stopped because the smoke irritated his eyes, and he only lived eight years longer.

A word-for word excerpt from a newspaper's account of Mrs. Buzzis last trial.

"She was pale and teary eyed as she took her OATS and sat down in the witness chair."

When we checked the clipping to Lemuel he said, "She probably felt her oats."

If you missed your rolled oats at breakfast this morning, you may be almost sure to get your supply of oats in the daily crossword puzzles.

It is perhaps a good thing for a prominent newspaper to misspell a word in a headline occasionally. It makes a lot of people dust off the dictionary.

You are right, gentle reader, the word is spelled misspell!

Movies 8th Wonder Of Trade World

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C.—From a mere peep show in an ill-kept store to entertainment palaces costing two million dollars and accommodating five thousand people. This is the romance of the motion picture industry in America and the span of time from the peep show to the palace of today is little more than two decades.

Of the millions who every day patronize thousands of moving picture theaters, few stop to consider the magnitude that the industry has achieved, the insistent demands that it subserves and the progress of the only art—the art of the screen—tantalizes the nearest to being universal.

Twenty-five years ago the motion picture was not an industry. It was merely an experimental, fly-by-night affair. It had no invested capital and no public obligations. Today it ranks eighth in the structure of American industry with a capital investment of some $1,500,000,000 devoted to the manufacture of entertainment for the great democracy.

FILLED A NEED
The foremost producers of motion pictures in the United States readily concede the fact that the gigantic growth of the industry was not due to special ability or genius on the part of pioneers, but rather to the fact that it filled a fundamental human need and filled it at a price within the reach of all.

Figures recently compiled by Motion Pictures Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., reveal the expansion of the industry and the implication involved in the saying that this is a nation of movie fans.

The average weekly attendance in film houses in the United States is now around 50,000,000. The needs of this mammoth army of entertainment seekers are met by 15,000 theaters with eight million seats. The vast majority of motion picture theaters charge less than 50 cents for the best seats and the average is much nearer 25 cents. To get a glimpse of the profit in the business for those who have made a success of it and established a reputation as caterers of entertainment and education it need only be pointed out that one leading corporation has at the present an income of a million dollars a week.

EMPLOYS 300,000
The production of pictures gives employment to a permanent roll of some 300,000 people. The average number of feature pictures yearly produced in the United States is now around 700. In the aggregate the salaries paid are $75,000,000 a year. In the course of a twelve-month the producers of pictures pay out some $5,000,000 to the newspapers and magazines for advertising and $7,000,000 more for photos and cuts.

The cost of the 700 feature films produced in 1923 ran from $50,000 to over $1,000,000, while the average cost was around $175,000. In admissions to the movies the American people annually pay $500,000,000. The largest entertainment palace in the world is the Capitol Theatre in New York which accommodates 5,500 people, while there has just been completed in Milwaukee a house that will cost not less than $2,000,000.

These figures give some idea of the present status of this 20-year-old industry. But they only tell part of the story. At the same time that American producers and distributors were building up this fabric at home they branched out into the foreign field and simply by means of better pictures and greater initiative in the art of the screen have succeeded in establishing the American product in every country in the world.

AN OPERATION RECOMMENDED

Avoided by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Los Angeles, Cal. — "I cannot give too much praise to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it has done for me. My mother gave it to me when I was a girl 14 years old, and since then I have taken it when I feel run down or tired. I took it for three months before my two babies were born for I suffered with my back and had spells as if my heart was affected, and it helped me a lot. The doctors told me at one time that I would have to have an operation. I thought I would try Pinkham's, as I call it, first. In two months I was all right and had no operation. I firmly believe Pinkham's cured me. Every one who saw me after that remarked that I looked so well. I only have to take medicine occasionally, not but I always keep a couple of bottles by me. I recommend it to women who speak to me about their health. I have also used your Sarsaparilla and like it very much."

— Mrs. E. GOULD, 4000 East Side Boulevard, Los Angeles, Cal. Many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised.

KAUKAUNA WILL BE FERTILE FIELD FOR SAXAPHONE AGENTS

Band Director Threatens to Teach Saxophone Scale in Ten Minutes

Kaukauna — The regular meeting and supper of Kaukauna Advance Association will be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the council rooms of the municipal building. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock and the business meeting will close not later than 8 o'clock so members can attend other meetings if necessary.

Edward F. Mumm, who last week spoke of a plan to organize bands in this city, has been invited to attend the meeting. He promised, if possible, to bring with him a juvenile saxophone quartet to demonstrate the possibilities of the instrument. Mr. Mumm emphasized children's bands but when he declared the saxophone is very easily mastered, members of the association became interested and discussed the possibility of organizing a saxophone band to play for the mid-winter fair. Mr. Mumm said he would organize the band and would guarantee the organization could play at least three selections for the fair.

Mr. Mumm promised to bring a saxophone to this week's meeting and prove that he could teach any member of the association the scale in ten minutes. H. L. Donahue declared he didn't know the first thing about music and that he couldn't carry a tune in a bushel basket. He offered to buy a box of cigars if Mr. Mumm could make good his boast. The bet probably will be decided Wednesday evening and considerable amusement is expected as a result.

Further plans for the mid-winter fair in February will be considered.

COUGHS Quick Way to Stop Them

Persistent, racking coughing, which by rapidly weakening your entire system lays you open to more dangerous infections, can be checked often with the first dose of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. Doctors say there is nothing like pine-tar to loosen and remove the phlegm which is the cause of the cough, and it is often astonishing how quickly this combination relieves the stubbornest cough.

But be sure you get the original Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey, and no substitute. Dr. Bell's has been known for over a quarter of a century just the right proportion of pure pine-tar and other quick-acting healing ingredients to give you the relief you need. Contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, so can be given even to young children. Time for spending a few cents to get the best, a medicine that often relieves the severest cough overnight, make sure you get Dr. Bell's. Only 25c at any good druggist's.

1924 BUILDING PROJECTS AGGREGATED $3,300,000

167 NEW HOMES ERECTED HERE IN 12 MONTHS

Fifth Ward Again Leads City
in Number of New Residences

Although buildings costs did not mount to new altitudes in 1924, the year's record is eclipsed only by that of 1923 when construction totaled nearly $4,000,000. New construction begun in 1924 amounted to $2,185,708, according to estimates submitted by the builders to George E. Peotter, building inspector, but unfinished construction started the year previous totaled $1,150,000, which brings the year's total to approximately $3,300,000.

Included in the holdover construction from the previous year are to be considered the eight-story addition of Hotel Appleton, the Stingle bakery addition, the addition to the Telulah mill of the Fox River Paper company, the additions and new equipment of the Appleton water department buildings, the new mill of the Northern Peller and Structural Iron works, the Sisters home of St. Joseph church, the new Masonic temple, the Cherry-st bridge and the new buildings of the Riverside Fibre and Paper company. The largest of these projects finished in 1924 were the Riverside mill, the Masonic temple, and the Hotel Appleton addition.

167 NEW HOMES

A faithful comparison of the construction work of the last two years is not possible for the reason that the building department of the city functioned only for nine months in 1923. But an estimate of the construction begun in the first three months of 1923 together with the building inspector's estimates for the remaining nine months gave a total of about $2,500,000 in new construction for that year, as compared with the $2,185,708 of new construction in 1924.

A feature of the 1924 building activities was the drop in the number of homes erected. The total for the year just past was 167, compared with the 219 of the building inspector's 1923 records plus the 10 new homes begun before the opening of the building department office.

Although there were fewer of the more expensive homes in 1924, yet the average cost was slightly larger than that of the year. The average cost of homes built last year was $4,100, as compared with the average cost of $3,700 of the previous year. The total cost of the 167 homes, computed on this basis, would be about $684,000, whereas the total cost of the 230 homes in 1923 was approximately $850,000.

GOT LATE START

The increase in the number of homes in the last three years is believed to have added considerably to the population. With the number of new homes in 1923 placed at 212, according to a count made by Appleton letter carriers, the increase in homes for the three year period is more than 600.

Very little home building was done in the first two months of 1924. No homes were started in January, and only two were started in February. The greatest activity in this respect was in April, September and October. Following is the record for each month: January 0, February 2, March 15, April 20, May 17, June 15, August 8, September 23, October 26, November 11 and December 5.

As has been the case for the last three years, the Fifth ward led all others in the number of new homes. The third ward was second and the Sixth ward third in the list, thus providing again the much reported state ment that the city is building westward and northward. It is significant that only two new homes were built in the Second ward in 1923 and no homes were built in that ward in 1924.

MORE AUTOMOBILES

It is also apparent that more automobiles were sold in the Fifth ward than in any other, for it leads in the construction of new garages. The first ward was second, and the Sixth ward again third. Following is a table of the number of new homes and garages, listed by wards:

Ward	Homes	Garages
First	24	61
Second	0	15
Third	38	42
Fourth	14	26
Fifth	43	30
Sixth	31	55
Total	167	288

The number of garages stated in the table represents the total of garage permits issued, but others were included in one permit for both a new residence and garage. The actual number of garages for the year was 210, or about 30 less than the year previous. The average value of private garages was $180, which would make the total cost of all garages about $55,000. Many of the garages were built to hold two cars. The actual count of the city assessor taken on May 1 showed an increase of 581 automobiles over the count taken on the same day of the year previous.

733 PERMITS ISSUED

April was the busiest month as far as the number of new projects was concerned, but March surpassed all other months in the value of construction authorized. A total of 733 permits were issued during the year as compared with 760 for nine months in 1923. Of last year's total, two were issued in January, 10 in

When Newsies Clash There Is Real War

Two youthful members of the journalistic profession came to an altercation over the sale of a Sunday paper at about 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The argument started in this fashion. One claimed it was his customer and the other asked him to prove it, at the same time placing a large piece of lumber on his shoulder in the time honored style and daring the other to knock it off.

All this took place in front of the Western Union office. Retiring to Midway in the rear of the Eljout theater, the boys endeavored to settle the argument in true Sullivan style, without gloves, rounds, seconds or referee.

Although it seemed as if they were posing for a picture, it looked like an all day battle, when the chief of police appeared on the scene, and all festivities ceased for the time being. The chief, however, wanted to put them on the stage so they could cash in on their efforts, but the manager of the theatre being absent, the match was called off. It is expected that hostilities will be resumed about the same time Sunday morning.

About 50 of the city's prominent and most respected citizens enjoyed the encounter from ringside seats.

Cost estimates of construction varied as follows during the 12 months: January, $360; February, $172,900; March, $633,625; April, $239,694; May, $110,471; June, $153,430; July, $356,050; August, $66,870; September, $200,588; October, $174,547; November, $56,770; December, $19,360.

PUT NEW ADDRESSES ON TAX FORMS, TAX ASSESSOR REQUESTS

Avoid Misdirection of Mail by Getting New Numbers Before Returning Blanks

State income tax blanks which were sent out from the office of Leo J. Toonen, assessor of incomes, last week should have reached their destination by this time, and those who failed to receive a copy should apply to the assessor at the courthouse. The income of the year 1924 is to be reported before March 15, but the tax on that income is not to be paid until next January, and then only to the city treasurer. Income taxes are to be paid now at the local treasurers' offices on the 1923 income.

Both the city treasurer and the assessor of incomes are fearful of the confusion in the records that is expected to result from the changes in the house numbers which are now taking place. Mr. Toonen has requested that all taxpayers in filing their returns give their addresses with the new house numbers. The blanks already contain the old addresses. With the aid of the new numbers, the assessor's office will be able to correct the records and avoid mistakes in mailing next year. Persons who file returns now should go to the city hall and ascertain their new house number, first. Omitting to give the new address will result in misdirection of the mail next year and will only put the taxpayer to inconvenience. Failure to receive a tax statement does not exempt the person from paying the tax.

High Blood Pressure Often Brought On by an Unhealthy Liver

Diseases of heart, kidneys, blood vessels due to body poisons

Medical science knows that poisonous waste in our bodies would actually cause death in a few days if not eliminated by Nature's processes. Because it destroys these deadly poisons, the liver is our most important organ—the body's wonderful purifier.

The liver prevents the formation of body poisons that cause diseases of the heart, kidneys, blood vessels and are chiefly responsible for premature old age.

When the liver becomes weak, the poisons are sucked up by the blood and health is broken down. Physicians know that the liver cannot be regulated by drugs, but a safe Nature substance has been discovered which will at once increase the vital bile supply. The discovery is purified ox gall.

Get from your druggist a package of Dioxol. Each tablet contains ten drops of purified ox gall. In 24 hours the poison toxins will be removed. Your liver will be regulated. Blood purification will begin. Sallow skin will clean. You will feel so much better you will know you have found the cause of your ill health. Dioxol tablets are harmless, tasteless and cost less than two cents each.

These genuine ox gall tablets are prepared only under the name "Dioxol." If any tablet is offered you under another name, refuse it. Accept only Dioxol in the original, genuine package.

A Tribute to Wisconsin Manufacturers

WISCONSIN'S basic prosperity depends in large measure upon her preeminence as an industrial state.

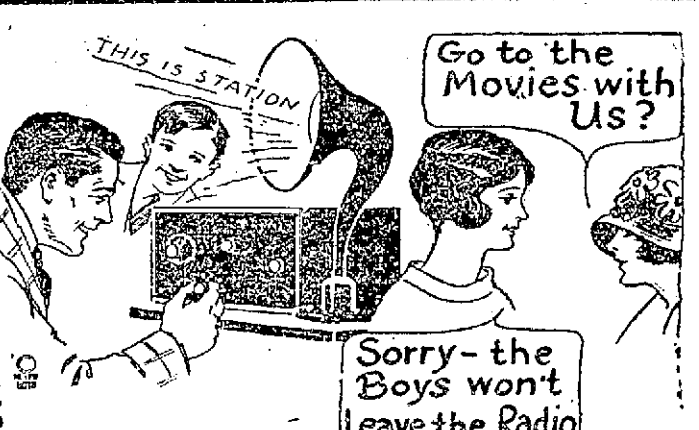

The sale of Wisconsin-made products brings millions of dollars into the state to the benefit of every citizen. The salaries, wages, and taxes paid by Wisconsin industries mean better homes, better schools, better roads, better cities, better markets for the farmer and the retailer—steady jobs, steady income, steady and continued prosperity for workers both in and out of Industry.

The Wisconsin Daily Newspapers are keenly appreciative of the many benefits that Industry has brought Wisconsin, and urge their readers to adopt an interested and helpful attitude towards the manufacturers of the state. For as we help the growth and prosperity of industry, our state as a whole will prosper.

WEAKENED LAWRENCE QUINT FACES RIPON FRIDAY

Two Regulars Lost From Lineup While Two More Are Hurt

Crimson Five Is Reported to Be Strongest in Years With Victories Over Knox and Cornell

With two veterans gone from the lineup and two crippled, Lawrence prospects to win from the Ripon basketball quintet in the opening game of the Little Five conference here Friday night look gloomy. Hubert left school recently. College was forced to quit the team for financial reasons. Ashman hurt his foot in the Northwestern game at Naperville last week and Kotal has a badly blistered foot which may keep him off the floor Friday. In spite of these handicaps the Blues Saturday defeated Wheaton in the final game of their three-day trip through Illinois. Wheaton has a strong team, according to all accounts, but judging from its record this season, the Ripon quintet is stronger than any in the conference.

Both Cornell and Knox, usually accounted to be of the strongest school in the Midwest conference, bowed to the crimson cagers this season. Ripon defeated Knox 22 to 17, and gave Cornell a 33 to 15 drubbing. Cornell, as the chief title contender this season managed to lose out a 27 to 19 victory.

Lawrence is scheduled to meet the teams Ripon has played later in the season, and the game Friday will give Appleton fans a line on the comparative strength and chances of Lawrence and Ripon.

The regular Lawrence quintet is doped as the equal of any in the Little Five and Midwest conferences, but the lack of substitutes is likely to become a serious handicap. Kosob worked in Ashman's place during most of the Wheaton game, and looked good. Grove may have to take Kotal's place in the Ripon contest, and while he has showed up well in all the games he has played this year, he lacks the experience which makes Kotal feared by all rival teams. If Lawrence wins Friday, it will be due rather to fight and spirit than to the superiority of its team.

EXPECT CROWDS AT NURMI-RITOLA RACE

Chicago—Because of the great demand for tickets for the Illinois A. C. indoor meet Friday in which Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola, the Finns, compete with Jose Ray, it may be necessary to shorten the track from ten to twelve laps. Charles A. Dean, chairman of the I. A. C. Athletic committee has announced.

The ten lap track, longer than the one on which Nurmi recently made his record breaking performances in New York, was considered as likely to bring about faster time by the runners. Distances of the dashes and hurdles have been shortened from 60 to 50 yards.

Athletics, numbering 261, representing northwestern Illinois. Chicago, Notre Dame, Wisconsin, Butler and DePaul, and twelve prep schools will compete in the various events.

F. O. E. KEGLERS COP MATCH FROM K. K. K.'S

F. O. E. Keglers Sunday evening moved out the Kuntz Kandy Kids in two out of three games on the Eagles alleys here and copied the match by a margin of 105 pins. Their last game gave them a big lead when they topped 97 maps to 92 for the K. K. K.'s.

Currie was high man for the evening, rolling 537 for the match while K. Koletzke rolled 587, leading his mates on the Kuntz team.

A. A. L. League Grows To New High Numbers

Bowling in the A. A. L. Association for Lutherans league has become so popular that the quota of teams has been raised to 14 for men and 4 for women. The alleys are crowded every afternoon and evening, and W. C. Telling, manager of the alleys has been forced to arrange several league games for Sunday.

Both leagues finished the first half of their schedules during the Christmas holidays and have embarked on the second half. A schedule book is being printed for the convenience of members and money derived from advertising in the booklet will be added to the purse for the winners. It is expected the additional fund derived from this source will amount to about $75.

Duluth, Minn.—Cowboy Bob Delores, Colo., won from Al Ryan of St. Paul, on a foul in the ninth round.

ATHLETICS MEET DELMORE'S FIVE

Kimberly—Kimberly Clark Athletics Wednesday night are due to meet some of the hardest competition of the season, when "Doc" Delmore invades the Kimberly clubhouse with his Two Rivers quintet. The Two Rivers outfit has defeated both the Co. I team of Neenah and the Lena Legionnaires by decisive scores, and is out to cop the state semi-pro championship. The Athletics expect a hard game, but are confident of another victory.

In an opener scheduled for 7.30 P. M. the St. Paul Lutheran school quintet of Appleton will meet the Kimberly Independents.

Skaters Make Late Rush To Enter Ice Tourney On Sunday

Entry List Closes at 6 P. M. Thursday, Jan. 15, With 31 Competitors Signed Up Tuesday

Skaters of the Fox River Valley, but especially of Appleton, are beginning to respond to the invitation of the Post-Crescent to compete in its third annual ice tournament scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 18 after holding out for two weeks, and the list of entries has been raised to 31. Of these eight are from senior men, twelve from junior boys, six from intermediate boys, 4 from senior girls and one from junior girls.

Most of the entries are from Appleton skaters, but the outlying towns also have begun to come in. Neenah was first to send in an outside entry. Indications are that before the entry lists are closed at 6 P. M. Thursday, Jan. 15, entries from outside Appleton will have done the bulk, while there still are many Appleton skaters who also plan to enter.

The forecast for the week promises colder weather over the weekend, which will make it possible to have the rink in Jones park in perfect condition. Depending upon the weather, the pond will be flooded either Saturday morning or afternoon, and from then until 2 P. M. Sunday when the meet is due to start, no one will be allowed to use it.

Washington will have 4 southpaw aces next season.

Success of Zachary and Mogridge Against Giants Makes Left-handers Popular

Washington—The success of Southpaws Tom Zachary and George Mogridge against the Giants in the world series has caused Manager Stanley Harris of the champs to become a "bug" on left-handers.

Neither Zachary nor Mogridge are what might be called great southpaws. Both have seen their best days. With just ordinary stuff, abetted by great control, they made the Giants look weak at the bat.

Taking the outcome of the world series as his cue, Harris intends to try to southpaw his way to another American League pennant.

His two veterans, Zachary and Mogridge, are still with the team. In addition he has bought Vean Gregg from the minors and secured "Dutch" Reuther over the waiver route from Brooklyn.

Next season Harris will be able to shoot four southpaws against the opposition. There are not many American League clubs that like left-handers.

"A left hander with control and brains, regardless of his stuff, always has a chance in the majors these days," opines Harris. "That is why I feel that Gregg and Reuther will help us."

With Johnson a fast ball pitcher and Coveleskie a splitter, we will be able to show the opposition a little bit of everything in the pitching line next summer.

What were the totals of the players who made the most home runs during the season of 1923 in the American and National Leagues?—G. J. L.

Babe Ruth in the American and Cy Williams in the National were tied at 41.

Is there any set scale for the salary paid major league umpires? A bet they get so much per game? B insists there is a set sum paid all the umpires for the season. Who is right?—FAN.

Neither. The umpires are paid in accordance with the valuation placed on them by their league presidents. The average salary for an umpire breaching into the majors is about $4800.

BAN ON DREYFUSS
When the gag was placed on Ban Johnson of the American League by Olson of the American League by the owners, it is said the National League also read the riot act to Barney Dreyfuss for talking out of order.

MIAMI, Fla.—Young Strubbing, Macon, Ga., lightweight, outpointed Hugh Walker of Kansas City in a ten-round bout.

Indoor Champ

EDWARD JACOBS

Here we have the national indoor junior tennis champion, Edward Jacobs of Baltimore. He wasn't conceded an outside chance to win at the opening of the winter tennis event.

The NUT CRACKER

MR. P. NURMI

MR. P. Nurmi is the kind of gent we'd rather have run for our money than with it.

It was feared Nurmi would be handicapped running indoors. But from what he showed, that baby could run the 100 in 10 flat in a barrel of glue.

The Finn carries a watch with him on the track. It would not be hard to convince Messrs. Ray and Ritola that he carries a pair of extra legs.

Despite the fact that the young visitor has no bad habits and suits.

As a tribute to the genius of the Finn, Tin Pan Alley has agreed to change the name of the popular annoyance from "Hot Lips," to "Hot Ankles."

The difference between Nurmi and the Bryan brothers is obvious. Nurmi does a lot of running but gets somewhere.

Nurmi says the important thing in running is a proper regulation of the wind. We wish he'd talk to some of our congressmen about that.

QUESTION: A five-letter word meaning hell-bent-for-election. ANSWER: Nurmi.

The experts say Nurmi is a natural runner. Yet this is hard to believe since he never did any prize fighting.

Nurmi always runs rings around his field. From this it's hard to tell whether he's a ringler or a rounder.

Kimberly-Clark Co. Plans Second Annual Basketball Tourney

Kimberly, Neenah, Niagara, Wis., and Niagara Falls, N. Y., Will Compete for Mill Title Jan. 27, 28

Kimberly—Kimberly-Clark Athletic club last week voted to hold its annual basketball tournament at Kimberly on Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 27 and 28. Teams representing the mills at Kimberly, Neenah, Niagara, Wis., and Niagara Falls, N. Y., will compete.

Last year the title was won by Neenah after a hard battle with the Kimberly team won by a few points. This year Kimberly has a better team than ever before, and has a bright prospect of taking the silver loving cup and silver basketball for individual players, donated by the Kimberly-Clark Co. as prizes.

The two Niagara teams also have improved much since last year, according to reports, and are expecting to win Niagara Falls has added two Indians to its lineup, both of whom are said to be real stars. All men playing in the tournament must have been employed by the Kimberly-Clark Co. from Dec. 15, 1924.

There will be two games each night of the tournament, with A. C. Denney, Lawrence college athletic director, as referee. The first night lots will be drawn for opponents, and Wednesday evening the winners of the first night's play will battle for first and second place while the losers will battle for third place.

As an added attraction there will be a dance after the final game Wednesday evening. The price of admission will be 50 cents each night without extra charge for the dance.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Eddie (Cannonball) Martin, bantam champion, was awarded the referee's decision over Tommy Murray, Philadelphia, at the end of a ten-round bout. Tommy Jordan, New York welterweight, was awarded a decision over Mike Schultz, Philadelphia. Joe Schwartz, Detroit, and Andy Martin, Boston, fought a draw and Carl Tremaine, Cleveland, won a decision over Patsy Wallace, Philadelphia.

Cincinnati — Chailey Weinst Newark, N. J., heavy eight, knocked out Joe Downey in the third round.

WIESBADEN PROFITED BY WORTHLESS PAPER MONEY

By Associated Press
Wiesbaden — Depreciated paper money was not an unusual curse for Wiesbaden. Fire destroyed the interior of the municipal opera house at the time Germany's money was in bad shape and the residents of this famous watering-place were in despair. But committees organized, raised what money they could abroad and at home and began the restoration of the building which was indispensable to a city largely dependent upon tourists and visitors who came to take the cure.

While the restoration of the opera house was in progress the paper mark declined at such a rapid rate that the funds held in foreign currency met the cost in a miraculous manner and the builders were paid off without further campaigns for funds. So Wiesbaden has a better opera house than it had before and no debt was entailed.

News About And For Farmers

Ventilated Bins Can Be Built To Save And Keep Stored Grain Free Of Damage

Experiments conducted by experts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have resulted in a system of ventilating bins to produce the best results in storing grain.

Two types of wheat bins have been devised. One calls for horizontal ventilation. The other has both horizontal and vertical ventilators. Both have been found successful.

According to the experimenters, some $2,000,000 is lost annually due to the sale of damaged wheat. A large proportion of the wheat shipped comes to market graded one or two grades lower, due to heat damage. For this reason, a better system of farm storage is needed. Ordinarily grain is in safe storage if it is fully ripe and dry when threshed. Since however, the weather cannot be controlled at harvest time, and a great deal of wheat has to be threshed moist, or not quite ripe, a storage system has to be provided.

REDUCED LOSS

One season's results from ventilated grain bin experiments show that farm grain bins can be so equipped with ventilators that the loss from damp or tough wheat due to improper storage can be eliminated, or at least reduced to a minimum.

To get satisfactory results the ventilation in the bin must be sufficient to keep the mass of wheat from heating while it is drying to a lower moisture content.

For this purpose the bin shown in the accompanying diagram, with ventilators laid crosswise, to every three feet square of bin space, proved effective. Wheat with 16 per cent moisture kept in good condition.

TWO METHODS

The lumber, nails and screen wire to build a ventilated grain bin to equip a bin of 1000 bushels capacity cost from $10 to $12, or an average of about one cent a bushel.

Two methods of ventilation have been found practicable. One of these consists of all ventilators being horizontal and their ends connected with openings through the bin walls so that air from the outside of the bin could flow through the ventilators. Each ventilator is independent of all others, and creates grain in a space three feet square across the bin.

The walls, when built of wood, can be relied on to dry out about one foot of wheat.

The other system consists of a horizontal tier of ventilators near the bottom, with the rest upright through the wheat. Each upright ventilator stands on a horizontal one, getting its air circulation effective in this manner.

For this system to be effective the top of the bin can not be air tight. It must be open enough for the air to circulate and there will be no draft through the ventilators.

CONSTRUCTION

The horizontal system is recommended as more effective, although the other method is considered efficient.

The ventilators are made by taking two pieces of 1-inch board, either four or six inches wide and long enough to reach across the bin. These are set on edge four inches apart, and cleats four inches wide and six inches long are mortised into the upper edges of the boards flush with the surface and about one foot apart.

Then a strip of galvanized screen wire six inches wide and as long as the boards, is placed on and tacked to hold it in place until one-inch molding could be nailed along the edges of the board to hold the wire in place under the pressure of the wheat. The under side is not covered with wire and the cleats are just nailed across without mortising them in when the ventilators are used in a horizontal position.

The upright ventilators are screened on both sides and over the ends.

SAVING WORK

Where there are a number of ventilators to be made a simple and efficient way to put the wire on is to line them up and stretch the wire over all, nail it down and then cut them apart. The wire is 14 inches wide will cover four ventilators.

An ordinary knife blade may be used to run between the ventilators to cut them apart after the molding is nailed, which will hold the wire taut while it is being cut.

The horizontal ventilators are made to fit inside the bin walls and rest on cleats nailed to the walls at either end of the ventilator. The cleats are nailed against the walls at the sides of the ventilators to keep them from being pushed out of place.

Just above the ventilators pieces of canvas or burlap are nailed to the wall and allowed to hang down and around the end of the ventilators to keep the wheat from running into the end of the ventilator where it would obstruct the air passage.

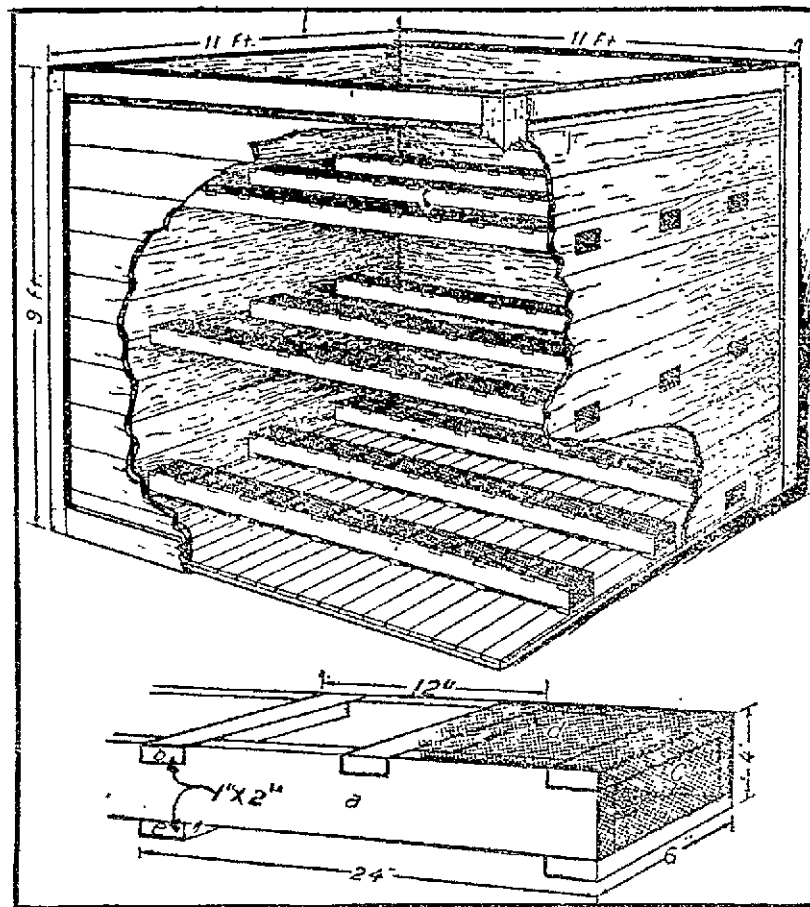

The holes in the walls are cut just as large as the opening in the end of the ventilators. These holes are covered with screen wire to keep anything from getting into the ventilators and to keep the wheat from running out in case the ventilators are moved.

When these openings are made through the outer walls, where they are exposed to the weather, either a board or piece of tin should be nailed against the wall just above the opening, and at an angle that will keep the rain out.

REMOVABLE

This method of installation permits the ventilators to be moved at will by simply lifting them out of their resting place. When the wheat is being moved out of the bin, as the ventilators are approached, they may be taken up and moved out of the way.

The ventilators placed upright are

Lower figure, detail structure and dimensions of ventilator; a side of ventilator; b, cleat mortised in upper edge of a; c, wire screen over end of ventilator; d, cleat nailed on bottom to hold the ventilator together and to raise it from floor.

VENTILATED WHEAT BIN, USING UPRIGHT VENTILATORS

installed by standing them directly on top of the ones lying horizontal near the floor. They are held in place at the bottom by cleats.

A cleat is nailed across the top of the horizontal ventilator on either side of the upright one, and other cleats are nailed on the sides of the upright ventilator which extends a few inches down the sides of the horizontal one.

Thus, the lower end of the upright ventilators cannot be shoved out of place in any direction. The top ends are held in place by stays nailed to them and to the bin walls.

These ventilators are not much in the way when the wheat is being put into the bin and when it is being moved out, the stays at the top may be pulled off and the ventilator picked up and moved out of the way.

SPACE COVERED

The bin space occupied by ventilators made six inches square equal one bushel to each five feet of ventilator, and those made four by six inches equal one bushel to each seven and one-half feet of ventilator. To equip a bin twelve feet square and nine feet deep with ventilators made six inches square and placed horizontally in tiers three feet apart requires nine ventilators twelve feet long, or a total of 108 feet of ventilators.

This amount of ventilators occupies approximately the same space as 21.6 bushels of grain. The smaller ventilators take the space of 14.4 bushels.

A bin twelve feet square and nine feet deep equipped with vertical ventilators requires three ventilators twelve feet long for the horizontal tier and nine ventilators eight and one-half feet long for the three upright tiers.

In this case, the three horizontal ones probably should be six inches square, but the uprights may be four by six inches. This requires a total of 112.5 feet of ventilators which occupy the space of 11.7 bushels of grain.

Getting Skinnier Every Day

Hollows in Cheeks and Neck Growing Deeper Every Week

Something Must Be Done and Done Right Now—Quick

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now for McCo's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets which any druggist will tell you all about, is putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

We all know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamins, fish, and other things, but many people can't take it because of its horrible smell and fishy taste and because it often upsets the stomach.

McCo's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are as easy to take as candy and if any thin person don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will give you your money back—and only 60 cents for 50 tablets. Ask Schlicht Bros., Downer's Drug Store or any live pharmacist anywhere.

But be sure to get McCo's, the original and genuine, and bear in mind that for thin, sickly kids they are wonderful—a very sickly child—age 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

CABBAGE, SPUDS HURT MILK TASTE

Farmers Must Use Care in Feeding These if They Want Savory Milk

Cabbage and potatoes, though not grown generally for dairy feeds, are often fed to dairy cows to supply succulence in the ration and to dispose more economically of these products during periods of low prices. Like other succulent feeds they tend to affect the milk with undesirable flavors and odors when fed under certain conditions of quantity and time.

In order to determine the amounts of these feeds that may be fed, as well as the time of feeding, without affecting the flavor of the milk, the United States department of agriculture conducted a number of tests, the results of which have just been published in department bulletin 1297.

From these tests it is concluded that dairy cows may be fed as much as 24 pounds of cabbage immediately after milking without imparting any objectionable flavors or odors to the milk. On the average, however, the feeding of 14.3 pounds of cabbage within one hour before milking will cause objectionable flavors in the milk, and an increase in the amount of cabbage fed will intensify the flavor produced. Proper aeration, however, will reduce strong abnormal flavors to some extent, and some of the slightly abnormal flavors may be eliminated.

When dairy cows consume an average of 14.8 pounds of potatoes one hour before milking, slightly abnormal flavors and odors may be produced in the milk. They are slight, however, and would seldom be perceived by the average consumer. Increasing this amount to as high as 28.7 pounds does not increase the abnormal flavors. That amount may be fed immediately after milking with no effect whatever on the flavor of the milk.

A copy of this bulletin may be secured free of charge, while the supply lasts, from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Checking Up Those Who Didn't Vote

BY ALBERT APPLE
Despite the intensive national campaign to "get out the vote," it's now estimated that only about half of the eligible voters went to the polls and cast their ballots.

More voted than in 1920, to be sure—several millions more. But the population increased materially in the last four years. The gain in voters was offset by the gain in citizens entitled to vote.

Now, what's the reason for this continued drift toward government by minority—a condition which, many experts claim, already has arrived? They claim that more than half of the eligible voters stayed at home instead of balloting for president this year.

One possible explanation is that the number of people entitled to vote has been exaggerated. Such is improbable, to any material extent. Even so, it doesn't eliminate the undeniable truth that "vote slacking" hasn't been checked.

Getting people to vote is a double job; inducing them to the polls is one thing; inducing them to register is another. It amounts to a problem of enticing them to come to bat twice. But even this isn't the major cause.

When a problem such as "vote slacking" cannot be explained by psychology, by indifference or by lack of patriotism, it's a pretty safe bet that in the final analysis it is a matter of the pocketbook.

Most of our political, social and economic problems slimmer down to matters of money.

It is probable that millions of people stay away from the polls for this reason:

They fear that registering and casting ballots will put them on the local taxation list which many have managed to evade.

Our cities are gorged with residents who "beat the law" in the matter of state, county or municipal taxes. The tax slacker sense that if their names get on the record they will shortly receive a tax blank for listing their savings accounts, household furniture and other personal property which so many of them have concealed from the levy.

Are the majority of "vote slackers" simply "tax slackers"?

The problem of getting more citizens to vote in the national elections is a constant problem. The error in 1924 was in campaigning at the last moment.

At the time we want to induce them to vote in 1928, a campaign to that end must be waged steadily for the next four years. "Vote slacking" is a big problem. And no big problem can be solved by overnight education. Reformers know this is a fixed and unalterable law. Time and patience are necessary.

Active Minds And Idle Hands Bad Combination

New York—Active minds and idle hands form a bad combination, according to Emmanie N. Sachs, who maintains it makes business for lawyers, divorce courts, and sometimes even insane asylums and morgues.

"The cure for what we call women's unrest is less rest and more work," she says. She advocates part-time jobs for women whose home duties are slow, but whose wits are quick.

"Women," she continued, "are executives, born executives. Look at the way they've managed men! Dishes and dusting won't fill their lives any more than it would that of a live-wire man.

"The modern woman must have an outlet for her energies. If she can't find it in her home or her community life she must find a wider scope."

Without this, she believes, this very energy which can be converted into such useful channels only gets its owner into trouble. She may start managing the affairs of her friends. If she is wealthy, she becomes a neurotic; if poor, she has nerves.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE SOUP POT
Down the chimney, head first went Johnny Sweep, and right at his heels came Nancy and Nick.

And they almost went into a big pot of soup.

For their ouse was out in the country and there was an open fire-place in the kitchen with a great iron hook where the soup-pot hung.

When they made soup there were gallons and gallons of it. Enough to treat the neighbors and even some over to put away in jars for the rest of the winter.

Well, it almost turned out to be Twins-Chimney-Sweep soup, for if Johnny Sweep's patched trouser-leg hadn't caught on the hook just in time, all three of them would have been in the soup—without any joke in it.

But as they scraped through the chimney on their way down they did certainly ruin a whole town of Sooty houses, bringing a horde of little Sooties down with them. And they went into the soup all right, the Sooties did.

Fortunately there was no one in the kitchen, just an old tabby-cat dozing by the fire back and then galloped off. But she couldn't tell

LETTER FROM KARL WHITNEY TO LESLIE PRESCOTT
DEAR LESLIE:
I have been wanting Alice to write you ever since our marriage. She has promised to do this from day to day, but she has become very much interested in some lessons in dramatic sand dancing, and hardly gets time to eat properly, let alone to attend to any of her other duties. I have come to the conclusion if any explanation is ever made to you, I shall have to make it.

Now I want to apologize for her act in writing that letter to your husband. I do not think, Leslie, that Alice really realized what she was doing. Surely she would not do it because of those trumpery pearl beads. I have come to the conclusion, however, that in her great love of dramatizing herself she wrote this letter to your husband for the adventure in it.

On the day after her hysterical outburst before your mother and myself, I found her in the summer house crying as though her heart would break. She had a vital marked poison at her mouth. I snatched it from her just in time. She told me that in a spirit of fun more than anything else she wrote your husband the letter, telling him to ask you about the necklace.

She said she had no idea that John would be so silly as to take the letter seriously. I tried to get her to tell me just exactly what she wrote in the letter, but she had already forgotten. Her whole explanation was incoherent in the extreme, for she was sobbing hysterically all the time. As I have succeeded in calming her, but she seemed to think she could not stay in her father's house any longer.

"Take me away, Karl, take me away," she pleaded. "I don't want to stay here. I want to be alone with you. For some reason my father don't understand me, no one loves me but you. Even my own mother takes Leslie's part all the time." Of course I knew that she did not understand what she was saying, so I promised to take her away immediately.

She was a pitiful little creature, Leslie, and would not be pacified otherwise. I told her we would be married immediately. Poor child! I am very sorry for her. She has such only her own life, but everyone else's put completely and then she is very disappointed and unhappy when it does not turn out just the way she thought it would.

She tells me she is sure you will never forgive her, but she loves you greatly, and it is breaking her heart. I wish you would write her, Leslie, and tell her that you forgive her. I know that you are even big enough to do that.

I think she should be back where her mother can talk to her. I never realized before what a strange disposition my wife Alice has. She now has the peculiar idea that she wants to go on the stage—says she must have something to do when I get tired of her. With her temperament, I cannot allow her to do that. I shall rely upon your father and mother to talk her out of it.

I hope by this time that you have explained the whole thing to your husband, and are happy and contented again. I expect you will never wear the pearls again, but I would like to have you keep them and give them to your little daughter, if you should have one; if not, to your son's wife.

If you wish me to write to Mr. Prescott, I will do so with pleasure. Let me hear from you soon.

Sincerely,
KARL.

anybody what was going on in the kitchen.

"Ouch!" cried the Sooties in the soup pot. "It's terribly hot in here. Do fish us out."

Nancy took up a big ladle and skimmed all the poor little Sooties off the top of the soup. Sooties are good swimmers. They never even get wet when they fall into the water.

"There now," said Nancy kindly. "Doesn't that feel better?"

The crooked little black things said it certainly did, and would they mind giving them a lift up the chimney if they were going back.

"Sure! We'll take you," said Johnny Sweep. "Come along."

The Twins had made shoes and Johnny was an expert climber, so away they all went up the chimney again.

Snitcher Snatch, the goblin who had pushed them down, was peeking down the chimney pot, his long nose dangling down like a limber leech.

"Watch out!" cried Nancy Sweep giving the goblin's long nose a pull. "You'd better clear out now."

Snitcher Snatch gave a terrible yell and stamped off the roof in a rage.

"Now," said Johnny Sweep cheerfully. "We can get down to business. Come Nancy! Come Nick! Better wish yourselves into Tom Thumb. We're going into a Sooty's house and it's pretty small."

Then he went tap, tap, tap on a loose brick.

It swung open and a little crooked Sooty stood there, telling them all to come in.

"Come right in and sit down," said he. "I caught a letter that came up the chimney this morning and hid it in my cupboard so it would be safe. I knew that bad goblin would steal it if I didn't."

"Is it for Santa Claus?" asked Nick.

"Of course!" nodded the little

CATARACT WASHERS

Special January Sale

NOW FOR 1925! And the month of January will start one of the biggest years of appliance selling that we have ever anticipated. For the past four years "1900" CATARACT WASHERS have been a leader in Appleton—"1900" Washers have been outselling all others by a very wide margin. In the new 1925 model "1900" there are many features that make it the most modern washer in its field today.

Consider the New Safety Wringer

—This new device was added some months ago, and has been greeted as one of the really "great" additions to this modern Washer. But this is just one of—

Many Other Important Features

For instance, the DOUBLE GAS BURNER, which heats the water in the machine in a surprisingly short period of time, and gives you hot water when you want it—and in any quantity you desire. The big copper tub is another feature, which holds more clothes because there is no machinery in the tub—nothing to tear or wear your clothes—nothing to lift out.

Truthful Words Make Trusty Ads

The Post-Crescent is very careful in its scrutiny of the ads which are brought to it for publication in the A-B-C Classified Section.

If there is any appearance of misrepresentation in any one of these ads—the matter is investigated. If investigation fails to clear up all doubt—the ad in question is rejected.

The Post-Crescent endeavors to keep faith with both its advertisers and its readers. If it knowingly publishes misleading ads it betrays its readers and by destroying their confidence works irreparable injury upon legitimate advertisers.

It is a matter of common-sense business policy in addition to its ethical significance to publish as far as is humanly possible nothing but truthful ads. Goods newspapers everywhere have accepted this view.

You may have entire confidence in the A-B-C Ads—because the Post-Crescent is a good newspaper.
